'Save water' call

Hosepipe ban over, but caution urged

By DAVID WATKINSON

People in East Lancashire are still being urged to conserve water, despite the hosepipe ban being lifted.

The restrictions were lifted at the end of last week after five weeks of rain since the ban came into effect.

After the driest start to the year in more than 70 years, July had twice the normal average rain.

Despite the downpours, United Utilities said reservoirs in East Lancashire and the Pennines were still low.

But, as levels in Cumbria and elsewhere in the region, have recovered, bosses said there was no longer any need for a ban.

However, people are urged to continue to do what they can to save water, with East Lancashire reservoir levels remaining low.

When the ban came into place, experts said it could run until the New Year.

A ban on the use of the Leeds to Liverpool Canal, because of low water levels, is to remain because its reservoirs are located solely in the Pennines.

Richard Blackwell, United Utilities' supply demand manager, said: "Significant rainfall from mid-July to mid-August has allowed the company to announce an end to the ban, despite Pennine reservoir levels remaining below average for the time of year.

"We now have sufficient reservoir storage overall to lift the ban. This will come as welcome news to our millions of customers, who have been extremely patient and conscientious in their water usage."

But Mr Blackwell warned: "Although the ban is over, some of our reservoirs are still very low, so it's important people continue to do what they can to save water around the home and garden."

Local figures showed there were more than five inches of rain in East Lancashire during July, compared to an average of around three.

T-shirt plea for Sophie

Coronation Street star Julie Hesmondhalgh has urged people to remember the third anniversary of student Sophie Lancaster's death this week.

Accrington-born Julie is supporting Sophie's mother Sylvia in her campaign to ensure as many people as possible are wearing a specially-designed commemorative t-shirt supporting the Sophie Lancaster Foundation.

MUM TOO: Julie

The brainchild of the 20-year-old's boyfriend and artist Rob Maltby, the foundation is asking its backers to upload pictures of their tribute via Facebook, Twitter, Myspace or YouTube.

Sophie, a former Haslingden High student, died a fortnight after being attacked alongside Rob in Bacup's Stubbylee Park. They were targeted because of their alternative style of clothing.

Julie, who plays Hayley Cropper, said: "I am a mother myself and I was horrified to hear about the incident and how they were attacked just because they looked 'different'."

Get walking for wildlife lesson

Hyndburn's first nature walks festival has got under way.

Guided walks will take place around the borough until Sunday.

Organiser Gemma Tomlinson said: "Many people walk in green spaces, but don't know what trees, or flowers, they are walking past.

"The walking festival is about providing as many opportunities as possible for people to learn about wildlife in Hyndburn."

Date for darts

Twice world darts champion Dennis 'The Menace' Priestley will play at Hoddlesden Conservative Club's dart exhibition night on October 15.

School plans new offices extension

St Peter and St Paul's CE School, Rishton, has submitted a full planning application to extend the rear of the school.

The plan would see the creation of offices and an equipment store, as well as replacing old windows at the Arundel street school.

Madison's flight for life

By CATHERINE PYE

A private jet has flown a five-year-old cancer sufferer to Germany for last-chance treatment.

A friend of Coronation Street star Shobna Gulati has donated use of the plane, after she became friends with Madison Allan's family through the Five Star Scanner Appeal at the Royal Manchester Hospital.

The hi-tech treatment in Greifswald on Germany's Baltic Coast, will be a drug course similar to chemotherapy not currently available in the UK.

> We have to at least try everything
> ALISON FOSTER

It is designed to shrink the tumour wrapped around Madison's internal organs before a possible operation and a course of anti-bodies to hopefully clear the cancer altogether.

Madison's grandmother, Alison Foster, of Lord's Crescent, Lower Darwen, said: "There are no guarantees with the treatment, but if she stays here then there's nothing.

"We have to at least try everything we can.

"She'll be out there for 10 weeks, and we know the first four weeks will make her very, very poorly."

Madison, her mum Samantha and dad Mark flew on Monday morning, while Alison will look after their 18-month-old daughter Scarlett.

Mark will return to England whenever he can, and other family members will fly to visit Madison in hospital.

Almost £47,000 has been raised since June for the Madison Allan Appeal through a range of activities.

It is thought that a full range of treatments on the tumour, which Madison has suffered since the age of 10 months, could cost around £250,000.

Alison added: "We really do thank everyone who has donated so far to allow us to do this.

"This is just the first step, and we still need to raise much more. Madison's a little bit brighter after chemo at Manchester, but she's unbearably thin and has lost her hair again.

"She has been playing with her sister and chatting, and also for the first time in a long while, has been asking for a little bit to eat – it's usually grandad's mashed potato!"

Billboard bid for St James'

Plans to erect free-standing advertising signs at the Waterside flats development, in Accrington town centre, have been submitted.

Applicant Tamsin Deasey has asked Hyndburn Council's permission to place billboards at St James' Court.

Demolition threat to danger terrace row

By DAVID WATKINSON

A terrace of 11 houses, dubbed one of the worst in East Lancashire, is facing demolition after falling into a drastic state of disrepair.

Residents and councillors said there were even fears that the stretch of Spring Street, in Rishton, could collapse.

Reinforcement work to make the properties safe has taken place. Many of the homes have no roof, or internal structure, with several appearing to lean into the pathway.

Hyndburn Council has now made an order on the terrace for it to either be repaired, or be demolished.

The authority said the state of the empty properties has deteriorated to such a degree, that they are now dangerously unsafe.

A meeting is set to take place next month between the owners of the houses – a mix of private individuals, developers and a housing association – and the council to resolve the situation.

COLLAPSE FEAR: The derelict terrace row in Spring Street, Rishton

Couns Stan Horne and Harry Grayson said they had campaigned for almost 15 years on the derelict homes.

Coun Horne, who lives in nearby Chapel Street, said: "It is a blight and a major problem in Rishton. Bit by bit it is disappearing, either with people stealing slates from the roof, or the buildings just falling to bits.

"The quicker it is resolved, the better."

A spokesman for the council said: "The properties over the last few years have gradually fallen into a state of disrepair. There have been problems with fires and vandalism, and concerns have been raised about safety.

"They have now reached such a state that action needs to be taken.

"Notice has been served under the Building Act that the properties must be either demolished, or be repaired.

"The situation is such that we are not prepared to let it continue any longer.

"The council's intentions are clear. This area must be improved."

Give a big cheer for Gala

Thousands turned out for the 45th annual Darwen Gala on Saturday.

The fun started in the town centre before the traditional parade made its way from Anchor Road to the Gala field in Borough Road, where the event was opened by borough mayor Sheila Williams, her consort John Williams, and Darwen town mayor Paul Browne.

More than 60 stalls featured with a fair, climbing wall and charity rides in a Land Rover to Darwen Tower. Darwen Brass, Accrington Pipe Band, the MAD Mountain Bike stunt team, the Cheer Valley Cheerleaders and the Guazzi dancers entertained.

With zero advance payment on a new Polo, our Motability customers can be assured of worry-free motoring.

Molly's Great escape drama

By EMMA CRUCES

A dog owner has thanked people who helped search for her lost pet after the Great Dane brought traffic to a standstill.

Three-year-old Molly had escaped from a stud farm where her owners placed her while they were away on holiday.

She was eventually found 24 hours later in Guide on a trek back to her Little Harwood home.

Her owner, Pauline Treagust thanked the people who joined in with the search for Molly after she disappeared from the dogsitter's stud farm in Hapton.

Pauline and her husband Graham, 54, and daughter Ellie, 12, were in Turkey when they heard Molly was missing.

Powerless to join in the search, Mrs Treagust said the family was kept updated by phone on Molly's journey from Hapton, through Accrington, across the Coppice, Oswaldtwistle and Knuzden.

Molly was found by police at 8.15am last Monday in Haslingden Old Road.

Her escapade had caused rush hour chaos as drivers slammed on their brakes as the dog weaved in and out of traffic.

Mrs Treagust said: "We were in Turkey when we got the text about Molly. I was so worried. Molly is chipped and the information is linked to my mobile so I sat up all night expecting someone to tell me she had been killed. We rang quite a few people and I even called the taxi ranks offering a reward.

"We were getting sightings and I heard she travelled all night towards Blackburn.

"When she was found she was traumatised. Her feet were cut and her eyes were bloodshot. I want to thank everybody, the farmer, the police and the dog warden and all our friends so much for helping."

GOOD TO BE BACK: Left, Molly with Ellie, Amy and Pauline Treagust. Above, Molly the Great Dane

New MP's job for a day

Darwen's MP Jake Berry may have only been in the role since May but he's already lined up a new job — in the town's Job Centre.

To find out more about unemployment and benefits, Mr Berry, right, a solicitor, will undergo a day of 'work experience' at the Green Street centre.

No plans

Discount retailer Poundland, which has a store in Accrington, said it had 'no immediate plans' to open stores in Blackburn, Darwen or Hyndburn after announcing its intention to open 50 new shops, creating 2,000 jobs.

Tributes to hero soldier

By PETE MAGILL

The sacrifice of a hero soldier killed in Afghanistan will never be forgotten.

His name is to be added to the cenotaph in his home town.

Parish councillors have announced that Jordan Bancroft's name will join a roll of honour for Earby's war dead.

Earlier this month campaigners installed a series of memorial stones around the Sough Park memorial. And Morris Horsfield, a borough and parish councillor, said the former West Craven High student, who died during a gun fight in southern Afghanistan on Saturday, would be honoured.

Coun Horsfield said: "We did put some plain stones down and hoped there wouldn't be any more names added for quite some time."

The Union flag was flown at half-mast over the Parish Rooms, in Victoria Road, Earby, by councillors Chris Tennant and James Spence when the 25-year-old soldier's death was confirmed. And campaigners holding a charity boxing match for Help for Heroes, in Colne's Union Exchange pub, on Saturday, stood in silent tribute to the Duke of Lancaster's Regiment soldier.

The selfless nature of Jordan was recalled by a fellow West Craven soldier, father-of-one Gavin Spencer, 26.

TRAGEDY: Lance Corporal Jordan Dean Bancroft with girlfriend Lauren O'Hara

Gavin, from Barnoldswick, a Scots Guard, knew Jordan through friends back home, and the pair were reunited on manoeuvres at Camp Bastion. After Gavin suffered a severe ankle injury, which eventually led to him returning home, Jordan offered whatever help he could.

Gavin said: "He was such a big help to me in camp, getting my dinner and carrying my wash bag."

His parents, Tony and Sheila, of Kenilworth Drive, Earby, and girlfriend Lauren O'Hara, 20, from Barnoldswick, said in a statement: "We will miss Jordan so much and it will leave a huge hole. You will always be in our hearts, Jordan."

NEW RECRUIT: Harris Waring is congratulated by Major Alan Goodenough after signing up at the Blackburn office

'Proud and worried' as son joins Army

It was a day of mixed emotions for the family of 17-year-old Harris Waring as he joined the Army this week.

The former Darwen Vale High School pupil, from the Hollins Grove area of Darwen, was one of three teenage recruits to swear his oath of allegiance at Blackburn's recruitment office, in Church Street.

Mum Jayne Waring, 43, admitted she was both 'very proud and very worried' about her youngest son joining up so shortly after Earby soldier L/Cpl Jordan Bancroft was shot dead by the Taliban.

Harris' older brother, Jake, 19, has already served in the Scots Guards.

Mrs Waring said: "I'm proud of him deciding to make something of himself and doing what he's always wanted to do since being little. But it's very worrying."

Harris will join the Army Foundation College, in Harrogate, where he will start a 44-week course learning basic soldiering skills.

He said: "This is what I have always wanted to do. It doesn't bother me hearing about the deaths and injuries. I am here to do a job and I'm raring to go."

Fall in love with the Vista - hook, line and sinker

For free and easy family holidays it's hard to beat a caravan. The Villa Caravan Park and Fisheries in Carnforth. Lancashire is hoping to reel in new holiday home-from-home owners with the launch of its best value model yet; the ABI Vista static caravan.

Comprising two bedrooms, lounge/dining room, well-equipped galley kitchen and WC/shower room, the comfortable, stylish Vista is double glazed and complete with central heating. Its attractive £24,995 price tag, exclusive to The Villa, is made more appealing by a generous trade-in deal from the Villa's owners, Pure Leisure. The company is offering buyers of a Vista caravan at The Villa the trade-in value of their old caravan – plus a £1,000 bonus.

Renowned for its excellent course fishing – the highly rated fishery complex is made up of four, interconnecting lakes – and away from it all setting, The Villa is a natural choice for keen anglers and holidaymakers who want a relaxing, tranquil holiday base from which to enjoy the great outdoors. The convenient location, not far from Junction 35 of the M6 and within easy reach of of the Lake District's many attractions is another plus point for holiday home owners.

Established in 1988, Pure Leisure Group is the family-owned company behind The Villa and a string of popular holiday leisure parks in the UK and abroad. The company also owns and operates Hall More Caravan Park and the award-winning Fell End Caravan Park with its £3.5 million leisure complex, both of which are idyllically located in woodland settings within the Arnside and Silverdale Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty at the southern gateway to the Lake District. Caravans are available to buy and rent at both parks along with facilities for touring caravans, motorhomes and camping pods..

More information on the Villa Caravan Park and Fisheries is available by calling 01524 784784 or else online at www.thevillafishery.co.uk

Having a Ball on stage and screen

Michael Ball, 48, is one of Britain's best-loved entertainers. He was born in Bromsgrove, and has appeared in stage hits, including Hairspray and Les Miserables. He hosts The Michael Ball Show on weekdays on ITV1. His Radio 2 show, Michael Ball's Sunday Brunch, returns on September 5.

60 SECONDS WITH ...MICHAEL BALL

YOU'RE BACK ON THE BOX WITH CHAT SHOW THE MICHAEL BALL SHOW. WHAT CAME IN HANDY FROM YOUR RADIO 2 SERIES?
The thing that is so good about the radio is people are not self-conscious. There's no live audience; there aren't cameras breathing down your neck; you're not worried how you look, blah, blah, blah. It's a chat, a conversation, and I want as much as possible to make it that relaxed.

YOU OBVIOUSLY LOVED BEING BACK IN HAIRSPRAY FOR THE UK TOUR. IS IT LIBERATING BEING CREATIVE BEHIND THE SCENES AS WELL?
Yes. I'm associate producer on this, so even though I'm not in all the shows, I still take a huge interest in it. It's very important that the standard is maintained and we give the audiences a show that's as good, if not better, than we had in the West End.

DO YOU HAVE ANOTHER STAGE SHOW WAITING IN THE WINGS?
Yes, I'm producing a new musical, opening November 27 with Love Story, based on the film and the Erich Segal book. I saw it in Chichester earlier in the year in its first incarnation, and it's beautiful, it's new and it's British.

AND AFTER THAT YOU'RE STARRING IN STEPHEN SONDHEIM'S SWEENEY TODD.
That'll be next year, with Imelda Staunton.

A GOOD CHOICE FOR MRS LOVETT?
Name anyone better. I think she's perfect.

Life's X-cellent

By JEMMA HUMPHREYS

When Olly Murs' debut single is released this week, he'll be first in line at Blackpool HMV to buy a copy.

"I'm not embarrassed about queuing up for my CD. I'm so chuffed with everything, I've got to go out and buy it," said the X Factor finalist who will launch 'Please Don't Let Me Go' in the seaside town on Sunday, August 29.

And, along with millions of X Factor fans, the 26-year-old was glued to the TV at home in Essex when the first episode from the 2010 series screened last weekend.

"The best thing will be being able to watch it and not having to go through all of the stresses of the live shows. I can just be a fan and vote," he said.

"I'd like to go back to perform on the show. And when the live shows start we'll be releasing the second single. Nothing's been decided yet but I'm waiting."

The snake-hipped crooner is performing in Blackpool on Sunday as part of the four-day United Dance Organisation Live featuring Britain's Got Talent and X Factor contestants.

It concludes with 2008 X Factor winner Alexandra Burke.

Olly will take to the stage joined by Britain's Got Talent winners Diversity and Twist & Pulse, to perform Michael Jackson-inspired songs and dance.

"I can't wait for Blackpool, I'll be begging people to go out and buy my single," said a very excited Olly.

"I've heard the nightlife is amazing in Blackpool, so hopefully we'll be going out after the show.

"I've never been on the Big One either, so I want to do that."

● See Olly at Blackpool Winter Gardens on August 29.

Cinema round-up

TOY STORY 3 (U) Andy is off to college, but Andy's mum mistakenly gives the toys to a day care centre. When they learn the truth about the centre Woody must plan an escape.

THE KARATE KID (PG) Will Smith's son Jaden, 11, takes the lead role as a Detroit youngster who follows his mother to Beijing for her work and is forced to take part in a karate tournament.

THE SORCERER'S APPRENTICE (PG) Dave Stutler is told he is to become a great wizard. But his tutor ends up trapped after a fight with his rival. Ten years later they escape and race to track down Dave.
